MUNICIPAL LEAGUE PUTS SKIDS UNDER PARTY SCHEMERS*Ambitious Politicians are Given a Rude Jolt by the Members.*NOT TO BE THE TAIL OF A KITE

W. S. Behanna is Chosen President When Robert Norris Declines to Accept; Past Political Records of New Members Will Be Scanned.

The Connellville Municipal League last night quietly put the skids under any ambitious politicians who might be nourished in certain quarters by the organization for political ends. The league decided that politics should be a minor issue, the real object being to uplift, and that professional politicians are not welcome. A membership committee of five will be appointed at the meeting next Friday morning to scan the past political record of applicants for membership. Dues were fixed at one dollar a year.

Robert Norris refused to accept the leadership. At the conference held with E. C. Higgins, J. D. Porter, F. C. Graham and W. D. McGowan at the latter's home on Sunday, Mr. Norris said he would consider the matter and probably accept providing he could be assured the earnest support of the best citizens of the town. Circumstances prevented any of the committee from attending last night's meeting but over the telephone Mr. Norris announced that he would not assume charge. The meeting lost no time in choosing W. S. Behanna permanent head of the movement. The name of Rev. J. L. Proudfoot was suggested and Mr. Behanna announced that he would retire if Mr. Proudfoot could be persuaded to accept.

Previous to the meeting, which was delayed because the Chamber of Commerce rooms were not open at the appointed hour, questions, discussion were held. The Courier was generally endorsed for its attitude towards the organization. Members declared that if good is to be accomplished, partisan politics must be eliminated.

Secretary E. T. Baer of the Y. M. C. A., organizer of the league movement, offered the resolution calling for a membership committee. He said that every organization requires a certain standard for membership. J. Fred Kurtz opposed the motion, suggesting that the best results might not be possible if membership is made too exclusive. He pointed out the propriety of the civic league assuming a "holier than thou" attitude.

President Behanna left no doubt as to his idea of the league's policy in his conditional acceptance speech. "This movement consists," he said, "insofar as the public is concerned, of only the men who are right. Every man who is right before the public is a detriment to the league. Efforts have been made to make this league a political organization. It was never intended by its organizers to be such. This is the Connellville Municipal League, for the purpose of uplifting the citizen physically and morally, and, of necessity, politically. It is not to be the tail of any man's political kite. It certainly will never become so if I can help it."

Behanna was loudly applauded. Secretary E. T. Baer followed him, declaring that the civic league believed in him. He had no idea, he said, of having a political party formed, there already being five in the town, an ample number.

"I believe there is more danger in the common house fly than in the 'wet nurses' or politicians said to be connected with this league. I believe there is more danger in the polluted dust of the streets than from rotten politics, and I believe there is more danger to our young men from the street walkers who infect this town than from rotten politicians. No matter what form of corruption there is to have, there is work here for us."

Mr. Kurtz, prior to the election of Behanna, counseled delay in organizing permanently. He expressed the belief that Connellville may not be able to accept commission form of government, even if the bill is approved, according to certain provisions contained in the measure which conflict, he said he had been informed, with the decision of Judge Van Swearingen two years ago. He suggested that a larger body be assembled before proceeding with a definite organization.

Other members declared in favor of going ahead with the organization and losing no more time, and their views prevailed. The league will meet again next Friday night. It is understood that politics and politicians are to be kept in the background, if not entirely excluded.

Several members who attended former meetings were not present. Attorney E. C. Hildebo, who has been one of the guiding spirits, went to Waynesburg yesterday and missed connections in Uniontown. He could not be on hand. F. R. Chas. was out of town on business and J. D. Porter was detained at his home because of sickness in the family. John Dugan was seen in the neighborhood earlier in the evening but was not at the meeting. W. D. McGowan was at a nearby hotel when the members finally assembled but came no nearer. Because the Chamber of Commerce rooms were not open at the appointed time several members who intended to attend became impatient and left.

TWENTY-THREE SUCCESSFUL IN TESTS FOR FIRE BOSS

Oral Examination Will Be Given Those Who Pass at the Armory Next Saturday.

Mine Inspector P. J. Walsh last night announced the successful candidates for the boss certificates who took the examinations in the Ninth district. The certificates will be issued to those who pass a successful oral examination at the armory next Saturday. The oral test is the most important of all.

The 23 winners were announced on the bonus day, but Mr. Walsh does not believe this will seriously affect their chances on the oral quiz. The men who passed the examination were as follows:

Joseph Satter, Tarr; Joseph P. Brown, Broadford; Patrick Murphy, Dunbar; R. D. No. 32; John Gelsier, Broadford; William Gelsier, Broadford; John H. Brown, Connellsville; R. D. No. 36; Albert Wagner, Connellsville; R. D. No. 35; William Welkins, Royal; Edward L. Brindlinger, Everston; George Laughrey, Grindstone; Edward Bates, Union; Henry Keffor, Dunbar; R. D. FIRST EXAMINATION ON

Civil Service Tests Being Given in Federal Building Today.

The first civil service examination to be held in the new federal building is taking place today. Twelve candidates for positions under supervision of the civil service are taking the test. Sixteen others are applicants for the postmaster position at Obiopolis and five for a clerk-carrier position in the Connellsville office.

The examinations are being conducted by President J. E. Collins and Secretary J. L. Johnson. The examination board, which met at the postoffice this morning, it was found that the quarters provided for the civil service department were too small. There was not sufficient room in the postoffice to adequately accommodate the candidates. This difficulty was overcome by throwing open an adjoining room.

Among the candidates for the clerk-carrier position is a negro. He is Charles E. Strong. Others taking the test are Robert A. Aluise, Alvey S. Martin, H. J. Hunsicker, Connellsville; Martin J. Fildson, Dickerson Run, and Minerva Ketter, of Bullskin township. Those participating in the postmaster test are: John W. Holt, Cyrus Shaw, Johnson G. Stevenson, Theodore G. Griffin, Milton J. McFarland, of Obiopolis, and George W. Huffer, of Jenner.

MRS STELLA CARROLL

Following a lingering illness, Mrs. Stella Carroll, died this morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walters at Mason-town, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Carroll left Connellsville about a year ago. She was the widow of Frank Carroll, formerly superintendent of the Port Royal mines. She attended the California State Normal school and was a graduate of the New York School of Ceramic Art and the England Conservatory of Music. At the beginning of her illness she had classes in china painting in Connellsville, Uniontown, Meyersdale, Berlin and other points in the two counties. In addition to her parents and one brother, Jefferson Walters, three children survive, Elizabeth, Margaret and Frances.

HOODOO FOR HUMPHSON.

Birthday and First Trip to Lockup Fall on Friday, the Thirteenth.

Friday the thirteenth was certainly a hoodoo day for John Humphson of Lehighville. Not only did his birthday fall on that date, but he had his first trip to the lockup on an inmate of a lockup.

Brought before Burgess J. L. Evans this morning charged with drunkenness, Humphson testified that he had never been arrested before in his life. He said that he was celebrating the fact that the day was nearly over and that the day accidents forestalled for him by his friends had occurred, when he was arrested.

The burgess believed the story and discharged him.

KILLS 140 SNAKES.

West Penn Employee Finds Lots of Them Near Wheeling.

James Brundage, a Connellsville man employed by the West Penn on the high tension work around Steubenville and the West Virginia power line, was in town Thursday with the biggest snake story of the season.

Snake stories have been somewhat shy this year, but Brundage makes up for it by bringing along a good one. He told of killing 140 snakes while the force was stringing wires in that neighborhood.

RATE DECISIONS MEAN YEARLY SAVING
OF $5,000,000 ON COKE, COAL AND ORE
CONSUMED IN THE PITTSBURG DISTRICT*Interstate Commerce Commission Takes From the District the Unfair Burden Imposed Upon It by the Railroads for Years Past; Industries Given Opportunity to Profit by Vast Natural Advantages They Possess.

An annual saving of $5,000,000 on coke, coal and ore will be effected as the result of the rate decisions by the Interstate Commerce Commission which take from the Pittsburgh district the burden imposed by the railroads as a penalty for the natural advantages enjoyed. The coke rate decisions are of vast importance to the operators of the Connellsville coke region. Their main points of contention were sustained, largely through the efforts of John W. Bollean, the Pittsburgh engineer, who marshalled the facts in such an imposing array as to convince the Interstate Commerce Commission of the injustice being done the Connellsville region and the entire Pittsburgh district by imposing excessive freight tariffs.

Bollean engineered the recent fight of the Pittsburgh district coal operators, who won a 19-cent reduction in coal rates. He was the most important individual factor in the suit of the Connellsville coke operators against the railroads, in attacking the coke rates just changed, and his figures had a large bearing upon the ore rate decision which holds that Pittsburgh must not be charged more for shipments than Wheeling.

The most pleasing part of the decision is that the coke was decided strictly on its merits. The case made out before the Interstate Commerce Commission was so strong and convincing that the railroads did not have a leg to stand on and they have feared for months that the decision would be against them.

The independent steel and coke men will benefit greatly by the rate reductions. The United States Steel Corporation brings most of its ore into Pittsburgh over its own railroad, the Beaver and Lake Erie. The apparent injustice shown in ore rates was on account of the longer haul to Wheeling, which is on an average of from 25 to 30 miles farther than to Pittsburgh from the lake points.

Speaking of the rate decisions yesterday, Mr. Bollean said:

"The railroads claim the right of regulating the assembling of the coke, ore and limestone so as to regulate the cost of pig iron. For instance, in this section we have cheap coke, for the reason that it is produced here. But the railroads make up for the low cost of this commodity by charging an exorbitant rate on ore and limestone shipped in here."

"From the Interstate Commerce decision I note that all rates on coke are to be reduced from the local district except the rates to Chicago and other western points where they have been found to be reasonable."

"The advantage of the decisions on ore, coal and coke in the Pittsburgh district means a saving of about $5,000,000 annually on those commodities."

The ore decisions were on the complaint of President Wallace H. Rowe of the Pittsburgh Steel Company, that freight rates on iron ore to the Pittsburgh district should not be higher than to the Wheeling, W. Va., district. This complaint was approved and the ore rate to Pittsburgh ordered brought to a parity with Wheeling. The Wheeling rate for iron ore from Lake ports has been 40 cents a ton, and to the Pittsburgh district it has been 95 cents a ton, thus a saving of 55 cents a ton on iron ore results from this decision and order, and on the basis the iron producer of the Pittsburgh district will have his cost of pig iron reduced 72 cents a ton, as it requires two tons of ore to produce one ton of iron.

Leading blast furnace men in Pittsburgh yesterday were jubilant over the news from Washington. One of the largest trusts in the Valley declared that with that rate established, the duty on foreign iron ore could be entirely removed, and it would have no influence on the domestic trade. In other words, it will mean that the Lake Superior ore regions will hold an impregnable position for America, especially in Pittsburgh and its vicinity.

It also means that Pittsburgh's position as an iron center has been given a new lease of life, and ultimately this community will grow larger than ever, as mining men, who have for it removes the most serious handicap that has existed for years, against Pittsburgh's development on a gigantic scale.

A fight for a reduction in ore freight rates has been a long and fiercely contested one.

BETTER MAIL SERVICE

Pouch Will Be Sent Out of Pittsburgh at 1:45 A. M.

Better mail service between Pittsburgh and Connellsville will become effective on Monday, when matter mailed late at night in Pittsburgh will reach the morning delivery time for the first morning delivery.

Postmaster A. E. Kurtz was advised this morning of an order providing a special Pittsburgh pouch for the Connellsville office, which will leave Pittsburgh at 1:45 A. M.

It has been the custom to send pouches from Pittsburgh so that they arrived in Connellsville on the Pennsylvania train, reaching here at 5:02 A. M. This delivery made it impossible to distribute the mail before the second delivery in the afternoon.

The advantage of the new service will be twofold: Business men will receive their mail several hours sooner than they would otherwise get it, and newspapers will reach here much earlier.

SUPPLY CONTRACT IS AWARDED BY THE SCHOOL DIRECTORS*Four Firms Will Share the Orders Placed by District.*A $400 SAYING IS EFFECTED

Property Committee Outlines Repairs That Must Be Made and Suggestions are Approved; Centralization of the Eighth Grade Classes is Deferred.

With four of the seven members present, the school board held an adjourned meeting last night. Several matters of importance were considered, chief among them being the contracts for supplies for the coming school year, consideration of the concentration of eighth grade pupils to the Fourth ward building, and the report of the property committee relative to repairs needed to the various school buildings. Discussion of the plan to segregate the eighth grade pupils in the Fourth ward buildings developed the opposition of Director Hays. Final action was postponed.

Contracts awarded for the school supplies were valued at $400 less than those of last year. During the past school year a plan that has proved very economical was adopted by Superintendent Ashe. Each principal was required to furnish a report of the amount of stationery, etc., used in his school, and in that manner each head of a school took careful note of the amount he secured, and cautioned teachers to pay strict attention to the supply question.

Five bids for the various articles were received. The bidders were Roberts & Meek, of Harrisburg; J. R. Weldon of Pittsburgh; Board of Education, Pittsburgh; Thomas & Brown of town, and Kurtz Brothers of Clearfield. The first four firms divided the contracts between them. Kurtz Brothers were not low enough on any one article to be considered.

The report of the property committee regarding the repairing of buildings showed that the following repairs will have to be made during the summer season:

High school—Exterior window frames and shades painted; minor repairs to inventory and the purchase of four new typewriters for commercial department.

South Side school—Front lawn graded; interior painted; boiler room, whitewashed; new seats and a desk for one room.

Fourth street, West Side, school—Three rooms, wall paper cleaned; hall cleaned; outside woodwork, painted, boiler repaired.

ROCKWOOD, June 13.—The ninth annual convention of the Interdenominational Sunday School Association convened this morning at 9:30 in the United Brethren Church with the enrollment of all delegates numbering 185. President Lambing of Somerset presided. The opening session began at 9:15 with conference of district and county officers, and at 10 o'clock the regular session began by the introduction of Mr. Maxwell, the noted singer of Winona Lake, Ind., who certainly made things lively for a while. At 10:25 devotional services were conducted by Rev. J. J. Duke in the absence of Rev.

Hoover of Confluence. At 10:30 was the address of welcome by the Hon. J. D. Miller of Rockwood. Rev. L. W. Ware of Windsor delivered a very interesting lecture "Get a Vision," stating that this is the keynote of the convention. The evening session opened at 7:40 with song service under the supervision of Mr. Maxwell which was fine prayer by Reverend Moody of Windsor followed by responsive verses of Scripture lead by Mr. Maxwell. The address by Reverend Holdenby on "Man and the Kingdom" was excellent. The male quartette sang two selections after which Mr. Lambing made the announcements. The session closed when everybody assisted Mr. Maxwell in singing "The Browns' Big Horses"

Can't Run Over Me. The Friday afternoon session opened at 1:30 with song service conducted by Mr. Maxwell, who concluded the service with a solo. Devotional exercises consisting of Scripture reading and prayer by Rev. Davidson of Hot Springs. Rev. Dr. W. M. Holderby of Philadelphia was introduced and gave a very interesting address on "Sunday

The male quartette sang "Mrs. Baldwin was introduced as the best elementary superintendent in the state, and gave a very interesting talk on graded lessons in which she said that if she was a preacher her text would be "Study to show thyself approved of God" and "If you love ye feed My

THE RATE DECISIONS.

The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday handed down two decisions of great importance to the industrial world of Western Pennsylvania, and particularly to the Conneltsville coke region and the Pittsburgh iron district. Under these decisions the freight rates on coke and ore to consuming points are materially reduced, and thereby the light of the merchant coke operators of the Conneltsville region against lower coke prices has been materially aided and the supremacy of Pittsburgh as a steel and iron center has been further strengthened.

The principal reduction in coke rates has been to Valley points, where the rate has been cut from $1.35 to $1.20 per ton. A large proportion of the merchant coke of the Conneltsville region is marketed here, and consumers have been insisting upon lower prices on the ground that pig iron is too low. While there is no good business reason for such a demand, the reduction of 15 cents per ton in the cost of delivery ought to enable merchant coke operators and furnaces to get closer together on the price of last half contract coke.

The sweeping reduction in ore rates from the Lakes ought to be sufficient to effectually close this gap so that both the coke manufacturing and coke consuming interests may be able to operate on a reasonable margin of profit. With coke cheaper by 15 cents and ore by 35 cents per ton the cost of pig iron production is sensibly diminished and the necessity for cheaper coke wholly removed.

A further effect of the ore decision is to strengthen the position of the Conneltsville coke region as a furnace fuel field, add to the stability of its business, strengthen its prices, increase its profits and enhance the value of its coal.

The chief contention of the coke producers before the Interstate Commerce Commission was that this region is discriminated against by the railroads in favor of the Pittsburgh coke district of West Virginia. The commission dismissed this plea as unreasonable, but reduced the rates on the other ground that they are in themselves excessive. While the Conneltsville operators still believe that discrimination did exist, the effect of the decision is to remove much of it, and they will have no quarrel with the manner of the removal.

Another peculiar feature of the decision is that the commission found itself powerless to enforce that decision so far as the Shenango valley is concerned. It being within the State of Pennsylvania and shipments from the Conneltsville region thence being intrastate commerce, the railroads will, however, probably comply with the ruling of the commission, because if they do not they are likely to be confronted with a similar demand from the state authorities.

The final point in the coke rate cases was that participation by carrier in through rates from West Virginia and Tennessee fields, which yield lower earnings per ton per mile than their rates from the Conneltsville field, is, under the conditions of carriers which the railroads cannot control, neither unduly discriminatory nor unduly preferential.

While the reduction in freight rates is not all the coke operators demanded, or all they had a right to expect, the compromise verdict of the Interstate Commerce Commission comes at an opportune moment.

It also demonstrates that John Wesley Holteau has been a useful man to the merchant coke operators of the Conneltsville region, as he was to the coal operators of the Pittsburgh district and the furnacemen of Pittsburgh and the Valleys.

COLD FEET.

The endurance test in the Legislature has ended by the house fixing a date for adjournment. There could be no other end to the fight, if it may be dignified by that name. The threats of the house to adjourn in the session to stay in Harrisburg will not be made if the senate did not agree to certain legislation was silly and childish. The senate is a small body; it works more rapidly than the house; its members consequently have plenty of time to go home every week and look after their business. The house members, on the other hand, are personally more limited in means. Most of them have already spent all their legislative pay and are staying at the Capital at some hardship to themselves. They must come home soon. They have no choice as to adjournment. Their feet are too cold.

If the house had dispatched the business with the same energy and a similar economy in its debate it would have been ready to adjourn long before now. In private association, it is not well to talk too much and too long, and it is worse in the conduct of public affairs.

The Democratic United States Senate announces that the Free List will be further extended by the placing therein of pig iron and other articles but the President has found by actual investigation that justice demands a restoration of the Payne duty on pottery. Pottery is the leading New Jersey industry, we believe.

It is hoped that the new city government will be composed of men of business training and financial ability. The finances of Conneltsville are sadly in need of rehabilitation.

The Nation's Emblem.

By J. R. Bailey.

The American Flag! Thirteen stripes, alternate Red and White; a square of Blue, in an upper corner, Redacted with Stars. No word is so border as to fringe! No ornamentation of any kind, save the stars in the bright colors of White and Blue. Fold it up, and lay it away. And it has no more significance than and other piece of goods of like size. Still it is a staff, and floats it to the breeze, and lightly million people will love and protect it, and the Nations of earth will honor and respect it.

That Star Spangled Banner, the Flag of the Free, Shall float o'er the Land and shall float o'er the sea. An Emblem of Freedom it ever shall be. Till there's not on this earth one down-trodden slave!

CONGRESSMAN KEISTER GETS LL.D.

Otterbein University Confers Degree
on Banker and Lawyer of the Mill
Town; Methodist Episcopal Church
Town; Methodist Episcopal Church
Considers Decorating; Other Notes.

SCOTTDALE, June 14.—Registrar N. E. Slesley in his report of birth and deaths for the month and year in Scottsdale borough and East Huntingdon township, shows that there are two more places in which the stork takes the lead on the Grim Reaper. For May there were six deaths in Scottsdale borough, and for the year to date 27, and 134 for the year thus far. There were seven deaths for May and 48 for the year thus far. In births, Scottsdale reported 317 in May and for the year thus far 72, and in East Huntingdon township, 27 were added to the population during the month of May and 124 for the year thus far, there were 11 more births than deaths in Scottsdale and 12 more in East Huntingdon. In East Huntingdon, the births numbered 29 more than the deaths for May and the births for the year thus far exceed the deaths by 45.

THE FIRST ONE.
Congressman Abraham Lincoln Keister of the twenty-second district is the first man in town to receive the degree of Doctor of Laws, that honor being conferred upon Mr. Keister by Otterbein University this week.
Mr. Keister, although only three months in Congress, has already been notably recognized for his ability, having been placed on two good committees, the Committee of the District of Columbia and the Committee on College, Weights and Measures. The former committee with the senate one is the governing power of the District of Columbia and the committee is one that calls for hard work and good judgment. Important matters are to come up before the second committee also. During the meeting of the sixtythird congress, Mr. Keister has only missed one session, an unimportant one that lasted 15 minutes. Those who know him know that he will be on the job at all times and that he will give his whole attention to his duties. It was through the insistence of James J. Mahon, minority leader, that Mr. Keister was placed on the committees mentioned.

A BIGGER STORE.
The large room that used to be the old Y. M. C. A. gymnasium has been secured by William Ferguson as an enlargement of his furniture store, a new entrance being made in the rear and also a door connecting the room with Mr. Ferguson's present store room.

IN REAL ESTATE.
E. F. DeWitt, the Chestnut street real estate broker, has sold the property of Dr. O. C. Engle, a butt brick residence on Spring street. It is a 13-roomed house, with an office, garage and a frame dwelling on the rear of the lot. The purchase is L. L.
Keister, a Pennsylvania railroad engineer of this place. The price is not made public. Mr. DeWitt also sold the Thomas Blocker property on Garfield avenue, the Edward Kippel property on Grove street to D. L. Baker, and the W. L. Oliver double house on Broadway to Mrs. M. F. Mc-Gee of Mount Pleasant.

ADULT BAPTISM.
The baptism of adults and the reception into membership from pre-baptism and letter will take place at the Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday morning.

ELECTED SECRETARY.
T. A. McLean of Latrobe was elected educational secretary of the Greensburg Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening. Professor McLean was formerly of Scottsdale, having been connected with the Peterson Business College.

RURAL TELEPHONES.
Lineamen of the Central District Telephone Company are busy connecting up the line of the West End Telephone Company, a country line to serve a number of residents of the locality west of town. There are eight miles of continuous line to be operated by the rural company and there will be 27 stations on the line. They extend to Cunningham's bridge and to Fisher school house. This is the last section of the country districts about here for the telephone to be secured, farmers' lines having been in use in other directions outside of Scottdale for some time past.

BUYING PAPER.
Louis Wiseman of Pittsburg was here on Friday buying up waste paper, which is industriously collected about Scottdale. There are several small paper buyers in the place, by the stores and churches and a carload of waste paper usually towards Wis-eman's trips to this place.

CONSIDER DECORATIONS.
The officials of the First Methodist Episcopal church are considering the decorating of the chancel, and the man who painted the fresco work on the walls and the great dome when the church was built was here this week to estimate on the work. It is thought it will cost about $100. The decorations are very beautiful ones but soiled as they will always be in this neighborhood of industrial smoke.

FLAG DAY.
This is Flag Day and early in the morning Comrade J. Harvey Luter had the flag flying on the Savings & Trust building, of which he is the junior. In the old days when Dr. A.
J. Ingwers was alive the church by the man to follow the holidays and anniversaries on which the flag is flown, and the doctor's office on Broadway was frequently bright with the Stars and Stripes.

At the Christian church tomorrow the pastor will speak on the subject
"The Place of the Church Today." In the evening the fourth sermon in the "Mountain Top Series" will be

MOUNT PLEASANT, June 14.—
Charles Gilbert, who would have been

50 years old in October, after having

SHE LOST HER HAIR AND GOT IT BACK WITH HERPICIDE

Don't become discouraged simply because your hair falls and is thin, weak and wispy, until you have tried Herpicide. "I first began to use New-bro's Herpicide three years ago, after a spell of fever, which caused me to become almost bald. Herpicide soon restored the quantity and natural color of my hair. I feel lost without a bottle of Herpicide in the house," Thus Mrs. Anna C. Layli, 821 Second Ave., Louisville, Ky., tells in her own words how she lost her hair and how she got it back. Mrs. Layli's experience has been duplicated a thousand times and can be repeated thousands more.
Newbro's Herpicide keeps the hair and scalp in a perfectly healthy condition. When the hair papilla has not been destroyed by the ravages of the a Maryland regiment. Mr. Gilbert was employed by the H. C. Frick Coke Company for 22 years. He was a devout member of the United Brethren Church and also was a member of the Robert Warden Post Grand Army of the Republic. The members of which will turn out for the funeral, which will be held on Monday afternoon. At his request a military funeral will be held. Edward Keller will sound taps and a firing squad will be made up of Philadelphia veterans, who will also turn out. Mr. Gilbert is survived by one son, W. Gilbert of Hazelwood, at a beautifully appointed luncheon on Thursday at her Church street home for her nieces the Misses Emmaline and Anna Scull of Somerset. Those present were Misses Elizabeth, Edith, Dorothy, Adeline, Ramsey, Margaret Hurst, Helen Cort, Elsie Bryce and Mrs. Presley Hurst of his place and the Misses Amy and Clara Scull of Irwin and Miss Elvira Keenan of Greenburg.

Mrs. Roy Boswick of Wilkesburg, is the guest of Mrs. J. Lloyd Kulp.
Invitations are out for a kitchen shower to be given by Mrs. Eva Swartz Stouffer and Mrs. Fred Dunlap at Mrs. Stouffer's home on Friday evening, June 20th for Miss Anna Stouffer whose marriage to Reverend Shannon A. Griffith of Goodland, Ind., will be an early event.

The members of the Grand Army of the Republic and other Civil War veterans are requested to attend the Joel Evans funeral to meet at the Evans home on Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church met at the Main street home of Mrs. Robertson.
Mormonism was the subject. The meeting was led by Mrs. Harriet Brothers, who also had an excellent paper on "Mormonism and Anti-Mormonism."

DANNY'S OWN STORY

By DON MARQUIS

Copyright, 1912,

Doubleday, Page & Co

The next witness was the fellow that ran the tavern at Blairstown. He had with him, for proof, a bottle of the stuff we had brought with us. He told how we had went away and left it there that very morning.

Another witness told of seeing the doctor talking in the road to that nigger bishop, which any one could see it easy enough, for they wasn't nothing secret about it. We had met him by accident. But you could see it made sense.

Another witness says he lives not far from that Big Bethel church. He says he has noticed the niggers was worked up about something for several days. They are keeping the cause of it secret. He went over to Big Bethel church the night before, he said, and he listened outside one of the windows to find out what kind of doctrine that crazy bishop was preaching to them. They was all so worked up and the power was with 'em so strong and they was so excited they wouldn't or hear an army marching by. He had heard the bishop deliver a message to his flock from the Meeshlah. He had seen him go wild afterward and preach an equality sermon.

Then there was six other witnesses. All had been in the gang that lynched the nigger that day. That nigger had confessed his crime before he was lynched. He had told how the niggers had been expecting of a Meeshlah for several days, and how the doctor was him. He had said a preaching and a prophesying and thinking to the last minute maybe he was going to get took up in a chariot of fire.

Things kept looking worse and worse for us. They had the story as the niggers thought it to be. They thought the doctor had deliberately represented himself as such, instead of which the doctor had refused to be represented as that there Meeshlah. More than that, he had never sold a bottle of that medicine.

Then the doctor gave his own testimony. "Gentlemen," he says, "it is true that I came down here to try out that stuff in the bottle there and see if it market could be worked up for it. It is also true that, after I came here and discovered what conditions were, I decided not to sell the stuff. I didn't sell any. About this Meeshlah business I know very little more than you do. The situation was created, and I blundered into it. I went the negroes word that I was not the person they expected. The bishop lied to them. That is my whole story."

But they didn't believe him. For it was just what he would of said if he had been guilty, as they thought him. And then Glines gets up and says:

"Gentlemen, I demand for this prisoner the penalty which the law has calculated to attach to this county the peaceful domination of the black race by the white."

"The negro who was lynched today might never have committed the crime he did had not the wild, disturbing dream of equality been stirring in his brain. Every speech, every look, every action which encourages that idea is a crime in this county, where the blacks outnumber us, we must either rule as masters or be submerged."

"This man is still believed by the negroes to possess some infernal power. He is therefore doubly dangerous. As a sharp warning to them he must die. His death will do more toward ending the trouble here than any number of the death of a dozen negroes."

"And as God is my witness, I speak and not through passion, but from the dictates of conscience."

He went it, Grimes did. And when he set down his was a bush. And then Will, the chairman, began to call the roll.

I never been much of a person to have bad dreams or nightmares or things like that. But ever since that night in that schoolhouse, if I do have a nightmare, it takes the shape of that roll being called. Every word was like a spade grubbing and gritting in damp gravel when a grave is dug. It sounded so to me.

"Emuel Palmour, how do you vote?" that chairman would say.

Samuel Palmour, or whoever it was, would bid himself to his feet, and he would say something like this:

"Death."

He wouldn't say it joyous, he wouldn't say it sad. He would be pale when he said it, meebv, and meebv, and he would say it like it was a duty he had to do that couldn't be got out of. That there trial had lasted so long they wasn't hot blood left in nobody just then—only cold blood and determination and duty and principle.

"Buck Hightower," says the chairman, "how do you vote?"

"Death," says Buck. "Death for the man. But, say, can't we just lick the kid and send him home?"

They had thought it was before. The door opened, and old Daddy Withers stepped in. He had been gone so long I had almost forgot him. Right behind him was a tall, spare fellow with black eyes and straight iron gray hair.

Dr. Kirby riz up. "You are going to kill me," he said. He was pale, but he was quiet, and he spoke as calm and steady as he ever done in his life. "You are going to kill me, like the crowd of sneaking cowards that you are. And you are such cowards that you've talked two hours about it instead of doing it. And I'll tell you why you've talked so much—because no one of you alone would dare to do it, and every man of you in the end wants to go away thinking that the other fellow had the biggest share in it. And no one of you will fire the gun or pull the rope. You'll do it all together, in a crowd, because each one will want to tell himself he only touched the rope or that his gun misfired."

But just then he throwed a look my way. And something sobered him. He stood there digging his finger nails into the palms of his hands for a minute to get himself back, and when he spoke he was sort of husky. "That boy there," he says, "and then he stoops and kind of chokes up, and in a minute he was begging for me. He tells 'em I wasn't mixed up in nothing. He wouldn't of done it for himself, but he begged for me. No, body had paid much attention to me from the first, except Buck Hightower or him put in a good word for me. But somehow the doctor had got the crowd listening to him again, and they all looked at me. It got next to me, I seen by the way they were looking, and I felt it in the air that they was going to let me off."

But Dr. Kirby had always been my friend. It made me sore for to see him thinking I wasn't with him. So I says:

"You better can that line of talk. They don't get you without they get me too. You order know I ain't a quitter. You give me a pain."

And the doctor and me stood and looked at each other for a minute. He grinned at me, and all of a sudden we was neither one of us much giving a whoop, for it had come to us both at once what awful good friends we was with each other.

But just then they come a slow, easy going sort of a voice from the back part of the room. That fellow that had come in along with old Daddy Withers come sniffling down the middle aisle, speaking as he come.

"I've been hearing a great deal of talk about killing people in the last few minutes," he says. "Everybody in the whole place rubbed at him."

There was something sort of careless in his voice, like he had just dropped in to see a show, and it had come to him sudden that he would enjoy himself for a minute or two talking part in it. But he wasn't going to get too worked up about it, either, for the show might end by making him tired, after all.

He had high cheek bones and iron gray hair, which he wore rather long, and very black eyes. As he lifted his head and looked close at Dr. Kirby a change went over both their faces. Dr. Kirby's mouth opened like he was going to speak. So did the other fellow's. One side of his mouth twitched into something that was too surprised to be a grin, and one of his black eyebrows lifted itself up at the same time. But neither him nor Dr. Kirby spoke.

And he turns to the chairman. "Will," he says, and everybody listens. "Do I understand," he says, "that some one is going to lynch some one, or something of that sort?"

"That's about the size of it, colonel," says Will.

"Um," he says. "What for?"

CHAPTER XIX.
A Motion to Adjourn.

WHEN everybody starts to talk all at once, half of them jumping to their feet and making a perfect hullabaloo of explanations you couldn't get no sense out of. In the midst of which the colonel takes a chair and sets down and crosses one leg over the other, swinging the loose foot and smiling very patient. Which Will remembers he is chairman of that meeting and pounds for order.

"Thank you, Will," says the colonel, like getting order was a personal favor to him. Then Billy Harden gets the floor and squares away for a long winded speech telling why. But Buck Hightower jumps up impatient and says:

"We've been through all that, Billy. That man there has been tried and found guilty, colonel, and there's only one thing to do—string him up."

"Buck, I wouldn't," says the colonel, very wild.

But that there man Grimes gets up very sober and steady and says:

"Colonel, you don't understand."

And he tells him the bull thing as he believed it to be—why they has voted the doctor must die, the room warming up again as he talks and the colonel listening very interested. But you could see by the looks of him that colonel wouldn't never be interested so much in anything but himself and his own way of doing things.

"Grimes," he says when the pocket marked man finishes, "I wouldn't. I really wouldn't."

"Colonel," says Grimes, showing his knowledge that they are all standing solid behind him, "we will!"

"Ah," says the colonel, his eyebrow going up and his face lighting up like he is really beginning to enjoy himself and is glad he come. "Indeed!"

"Yes," says Grimes, "we will!"

"But not," says the colonel, "before we have talked the thing over a bit, I hope."

"There's been too much talk here now," yells Buck Hightower, "talk, talk, till I'm sick of it! Where's that rope?"

"But listen to him—listen to the colonel!" some one else sings out. And then they was another hullabaloo, some yelling "Yes!" that he was to speak and some yelling "No!"

And the colonel, very patient, rolls himself a smoke. But finally they quieta down enough so Will can put it to a vote, which vote goes for the colonel to speak.

"Boys," he begins very quiet, "I wouldn't lynch this man. In the first place, it will look bad in the newspapers, and—"

"The newspapers be d—d!" says some one.

"And in the second place," goes on the colonel, "it would be against the law, and—"

"The law be d—d!" says Buck Hightower.

"There's a higher law!" says Grimes.

"Against the law," says the colonel, rising up and throwing away his cigar and getting interested.

"I know how you feel about all this negro business. And I feel the same way. We all know that we must be the negroes' masters."

"Boys, this thing of lynching gets to be a habit. There's been a negro lynched today. He's the third in this county in five years. They all needed killing. If the thing stopped there I wouldn't care so much. But the habit of illegal killing grows when it gets started."

"It's grown on you. You're fixing to lynch your first white man now. If you do you'll lynch another easier. You'll lynch one for murder and the next for stealing hogs and the next because he's unpopular and the next because he happens to dun you for a debt. And in five years life will be as cheap in Watson county as it is in a New York atom where they feed immigrants to the factories. You'll all be lynch guns and grudge and trying to lynch each other."

"The place to stop the thing is where it starts. You can't have it both ways—you've got to stand pat on the law or else see the law split on right and left in the end and nobody safe. It's either law or—"

"But," says Grimes, "there's a higher law than that on the statute books. There's—"

"There's a lot of sub-dub," says the colonel, "about higher laws and unwritten laws. But we've got high enough law written if we live up to it. There's—"

"Colonel Tom Buckner," says Buck Hightower, "what kind of law was it when you shot Ed Howard fifteen years ago? What?"

"You're out of order," says the chairman. "Colonel Buckner has the floor. And I'll remind you, Buck Hightower, that, on the occasion you drew in, Colonel Buckner didn't do any talking about higher laws or unwritten laws. He sent word to the sheriff to come and get him if he dared."

"Boys," says the colonel, "I'm preaching you higher doctrine than I've ever lived by. I'm in the same boat with all of you, and I tell you it's up to all of you to stop lynchings in this county—to set our faces against it. I tell you—"

"Is that all you've got to say to us, colonel?"

"The question come out of a group that had drawn nearer together whilst the colonel was talking. They was tired of listening to talk and arguments, and showed it."

"The colonel let loose jest one word—"

"No!"

Not very loud, but with a ring in it that sounded like danger. And he got 'em waiting again, and hanging on his words.

And he paused again, pointing one long white finger at the crowd—

"If you lynch this man you must kill me first!"

I couldn't get away from thinking as he stood there making them take that in, that they was something like a play actor about him. But they saw he was in earnest.

"You'll lynch him, will you?" he says, a kind of passion getting into his voice for the first time and his eyes glittering. "You think you will? Well, you won't!"

"You won't because I say not! Do you hear? I came here tonight to save him."

"You might string him up and not be called to account for it. But how about me?"

He took a step forward, and, looking from face to face with a dare in his eyes, he went on:

"Is there a man among you fool enough to think you could kill Tom Buckner and not pay for it?"

He reached over and took from the teacher's desk the sheet of paper Will had used to check off the name of each man and how he voted. He held it up in front of him and every man looked at it.

"You know me," he says. "You know I do not break my word. And I promise you that unless you do kill me here tonight—yes, as God is my witness, I threaten you—I will spend every dollar I own and every atom of influence I possess to bring each one of you to justice for that man's murder."

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE

ALL THINGS WORK FOR GOOD TO THEM.

Genesis 46:28-47:31—June 15.

O Jacob and all his family left Canaan, the Land of Promise, and at the invitation of Pharaoh through Joseph, they located in the land of Goshen, suitable to their business, which was that of herdsmen and shepherds. Joseph went in his chariot to Goshen, and there met his father Jacob, whom he had not seen for many years, and Joseph wept. Then came the official presentation of Jacob and his family to Pharaoh. Joseph was careful that they should make no mistake. He therefore let the king plainly know that their occupation was that of shepherds and herdsmen, for the Egyptians despised that business, and would keep them separate from the Hebrews. Thus the land of Goshen would be almost like a separate country from Egypt.

Jacob at this time was one hundred and thirty years old and quite feeble. Brought into Pharaoh's presence, Jacob blessed him, in the sense of asking the Divine blessing upon him. These the family of Jacob, now called by their new name, Israel, became firmly established in Egypt. Jacob lived seventeen years thereafter, during which Joseph and his people, the Israelites, were in favor with Pharaoh and the Egyptians.

Our lesson relates especially to God's willingness and ability to make all the experiences of His people work out for their good. This naturally suggests that we inquire in what way Jacob's life experiences were to his welfare. The Scriptures declare, "Jacob have I loved, Esau have I hated [loved less]."

God's Love should be distinctly seen manifested in some way in making all things work for good to Jacob and his family. The question is, How? Can we see how Divine favor operated for the welfare of Jacob and his family?

How Did God Bless Israel?

Jacob, having become heir of the great Abrahamic Promise, "In thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed," straightway seems to have gotten into trouble. He fled from home leaving everything to Esau. He served his uncle Laban for seven years, that he might have Rachel for his wife. But Providence permitted him to be cheated, and he was obliged to serve seven years more for her. Time and again Laban changed his wages, endeavoring to get the best of him. Thus Jacob was thrown into competition with his uncle, to protect his own interests.

Finally, with the fruit of many years' toil, he returned to Canaan, fearful of Esau, whom he placated with a rich present. Later, he lost his wife and was bereft of Joseph, his beloved son. Then came the famine, the recovery of Joseph and the incident of today's lesson. Later on, that very move into Egypt appeared to have been disastrous, for the Egyptians enslaved the Israelites.

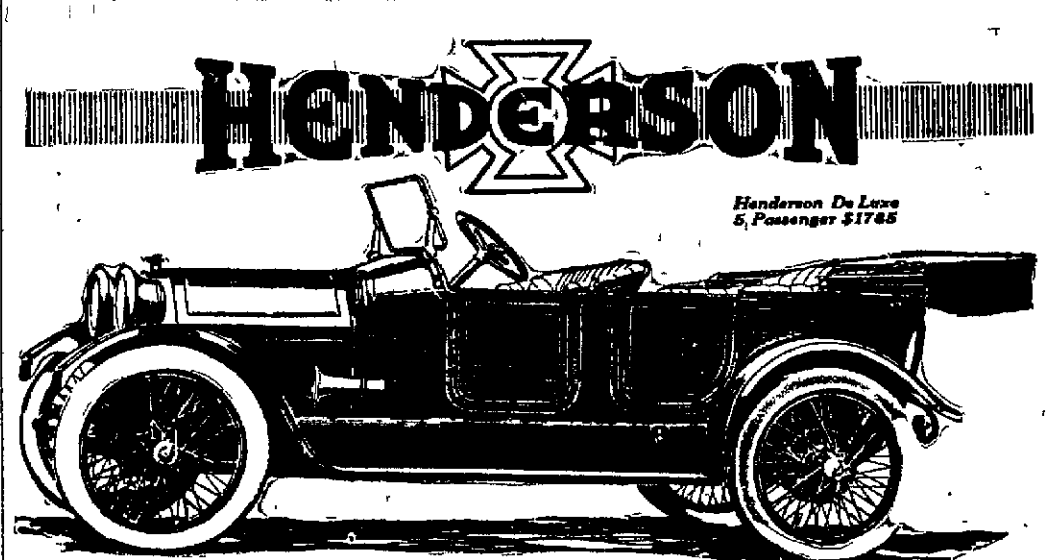

Finally they were delivered, only to have trying experiences in the wilderness for forty years. Then it was a gradual matter to get possession of Canaan. Then they had wars, pestilences, famines, captivities, rebellion until they were carried away to Babylon. Later on, a few returned by and by. Jesus came and was repudiated by all except a few. Then God repudiated the nation. Gradually trouble and anarchy came upon them, until as a nation they went to Hades—nationally they fell asleep. They have been asleep for more than eighteen centuries, while personally they have been persecuted in many nations.

To understand how God's blessing was identified with Israel's experiences, we must glance at the experiences of other nations, and then look also into the future. Egypt, Assyria, Philistia and other nations which flourished in Israel's day have either been merged with other peoples or blotted out by natural processes. But Israel exists, even though nationally, in Hades, Sheol, awaiting a national awakening and resurrection. That awakening is already arousing dry bones from despair and pointing forward to a future day of blessing and prosperity.

The trying experiences of Israel tended also to develop noble characters strong in faith and loyal to the core. St. Paul enumerates some of these. This selecting process continued down to Jesus' time, and found a glorious company, though small. God found the people He sought. These faithful ones of Israel are the ones for whom all things worked together for good. The time is near, we believe, when these will constitute Messiah's earthly representatives in ruling and blessing all mankind.

Throughout the Gospel Age God has been selecting a Spiritual Israel from amongst all nations. These, too, have had bitter experiences—opposition from Satan, the world and their own flesh. These Spiritual Israelites are heirs with Jesus of the spiritual phase of the Messianic Kingdom.

The man who insists upon seeing with perfect clearness before he decides never decides.—Henri Frederic Amiel.

They have Henderson parts. They have completely equipped shops—not merely a service department.

Furthermore, they NOW have new De Luxe Henderson Cars. Our territory departments at our distributors are direct factory representatives. The dealer who secures territory now open can drive the Henderson De Luxe demonstration home if near a distributing house, otherwise prompt shipment from Indianapolis.

ANTLERED TRIBE TO ROOM AT IDLEWILD; PLAN A BIG PICNIC

Western Pennsylvania Elks to Gather on Tuesday, June 24.

"HELLO! BILL," HAS THE CALL

Connellsville Lodge to be Well Represented at Gathering in Westmoreland County's Pretty Pleasure Park; State Officers to be on the Ground.

What will be the largest gathering of Elks ever held in Pennsylvania, with one exception, is scheduled for Idlewild Park, near Altoona, Westmoreland County, on Tuesday, June 24.

The occasion is the annual outing of various lodges of Elks in Western Pennsylvania being held under the auspices of the Elks' Public Association of Western Pennsylvania. This organization was effected last year at the suggestion of the Pittsburgh Lodge No. 11, B. P. O. E., for the purpose of holding a picnic for Elks in this district. Election of officers resulted in Wm. F. Benham of Pittsburgh, District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Pennsylvania S. W. as president; R. M. H. Jantzen of Allegheny as treasurer; William A. McNulty of Washington as secretary. The picnic was held at the same place and approximately the same date as the one scheduled for this year and it proved to be such a success that it was decided to make the organization permanent, and the same officers were re-elected this year.

Fully 15,000 or 20,000 are expected from the territory represented by the thirty-one lodges composing the association. This will be the largest crowd ever assembled in Pennsylvania under the auspices of the Elks, with the exception of the meeting of the Grand Lodge in Philadelphia in 1907.

The committee in charge of transportation has made arrangements for sufficient special trains to be run from all points in the ground to accommodate all those desiring to attend.

A nine piece orchestra has been engaged to provide music for dancing all day, while Kettering's Brass Band of Greensburg will provide a concert throughout the day.

An elaborate program of sports has been provided that will appeal to all. Races of all kinds are to be held, for men, boys, girls, fat men, Elks and others too numerous to mention. Handsome prizes will be awarded the successful contestants. The races will last from 11 o'clock until 1:30 P. M. At 10 o'clock a tug of war will be held between teams selected from two lodges of the association, the winning team to receive a loving cup valued at $100 and contributed by M. L. Howe of Pittsburgh.

At 2:30 o'clock a baseball game will be played between teams from Charleroi and Monacaen to decide the championship between them. They are bitter rivals for the honor. A loving cup to be kept in the possession of the winning team for one year is the prize.

Hoisting will also be provided for those so inclined.

Nor will the activities be confined to athletics, as an attractive program of speeches and music has been arranged to begin at 2 o'clock.

District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler and President of the Association, Wm. F. Benham, attorney of Pittsburgh, will preside and make a few interesting remarks.

Governor John K. Tener, a member of the Charleroi lodge, is expected to be present and make an address. Other speakers are Perry A. Shuman of Stateville, W. Va., a member of the Grand Forum Grand Lodge of Elks; Edwin A. Altman, Altoona, Pa. District deputy grand exalted ruler of Pennsylvania central, and Dr. Leo A. Badgers, holding the same position for Pennsylvania Northwest.

These gentlemen are speakers of established reputation and are assured of an interesting audience.

Space will be provided in the grounds for parking 400 automobiles, and an expert mechanic will be on hand to make any repairs necessary. An adequate supply of gasoline and water will also be available.

Although this is to be a basket picnic, ample provision will be made for feeding a large number of those who do not desire to carry baskets. In addition to the regular dining hall, a large tent will be provided, in charge of a caterer from Pittsburgh, where ample provisions will be served at reasonable rates. No intoxicating liquor will be sold on the ground.

A Red Cross committee of 25 doctors will be on hand to look after any illness or accidents, and will provide a tent with a trained nurse in attendance all day.

A large souvenir book listing all the events, prizes, etc., will be presented each Elks and visitor attending. Each lodge will provide the members and guests with badges. A reception committee composed of well known Elks from all over southwestern Pennsylvania will be present to assist in promoting acquaintances and fellowship among the thousands who will be present.

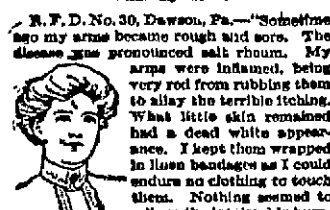

Engineers' Memorial Service. The second annual memorial service of the Locomotive Engineers of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock in the Christian Church on South Pittsburgh street. Members of the organization will meet at the B. & O. Hall in the Little & Trust building at 10:30 o'clock.

Dispatcher Ross is Hurt. Mrs. Charles Ross of Cleveland, O., who has been visiting relatives here, received a telegram Thursday stating that Mr. Ross had been injured in an accident. Mr. Ross was a former Baltimore & Ohio train dispatcher in Connellsville and is holding a similar position in Cleveland. Mr. Ross left for her home that afternoon.

SALT RHEUM ON ARMS TERRIBLE ITCHING

Rough and Sore. Inflamed, Intolerable Burning. Pain and Loss of Sleep. Entirely Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

R. F. D. No. 30, Dawson, Pa.—"Sometimes my arms became rough and sore. The disease was pronounced salt rheum. My arms were inflamed, being very red from rubbing them to relieve the terrible itching. What little skin remained had a dead white appearance. I kept them wrapped in linen bandages as I could endure no clothing to touch them. Nothing seemed to relieve the intolerable burning. I tried several remedies without success. After suffering much pain and loss of sleep for seven months I sent for the advertised sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment which afforded me such relief that I purchased three cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. Before they were used the disease had disappeared and has never reappeared. I was entirely cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. My complexion has been improved by Cuticura Soap and I find that it prevents all winter chapping." (Signed) Miss Fay Martin, Mar. 8, 1912.

Cuticura Soap is best for skin and hair because of the extreme purity, delicate effective medication, and refreshing fragrance. It costs but little more than ordinary soaps, wears to a wafer and gives comfort and satisfaction every moment of its use, for toilet, bath and nursery. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each free, with 25-cent Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

For tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

The Most Important Sale of Room-Size Rugs

As Regards Quantity, Quality and Price, Announced, So Far, This Season.

Several causes that are rarely linked together bring it about:—
1. Our greatly increased business which diminished regular stocks to a point where remainders of rug lots, carpet rolls and curtain assortments show small totals.
2. The changing of looms at the mill which creates discontinued patterns—new and perfect, but not to be duplicated next season.
3. Permission of the makers to deviate from the established price on certain Hartford Saxony and Art Loom Rug?; 4. A further reduction on rugs and carpets purchased by the syndicate in a recent mill sale—the greatest in history; 5. And the ability of this department to take every opportunity to sell high-grade floor-coverings and curtains cheaper than others.
